

The wholesale buying of an Amateur Radio Call Sign I am totally against. To purchase a call by sheer numbers of applications for one call defeats the purpose the vanity call system. I am not against one application being submitted with mutiple calls requested to choose from if one is not available. That is OK. Otherwise why bother administering a system which I feel is abusive to the average ham and has to be costly if fees were returned especially when someone has submitted 40 applications plus which happened in March this year. This is true vanity. I feel that due to cost, manpower plus time that ONLY one fee for one application be allowed to be submitted not mutiple applications for ONE call. Otherwise this defeats the whole purpose of the Vanity call system as many of us out here understood it to be. Thank You